

Study: Standardizing reporting recommendations at a large radiology practice

Recently, a team with the Radiology Partners Research Institute (RPRI) launched a study to explore if performance improvement initiatives implemented in a large, multi-state radiology practice successfully increased inclusion of best practice recommendations (BPRs) within the radiology report across the entire practice.

Focusing on BPRs related to asymptomatic abdominal aortic aneurysm, Dr. Upma Rawal, Dr. Jay Bronner, Jason Mitsky, Dr. Sameer Ahmed and Dr. Sheila Sheth published the piece in the Journal of the American College of Radiology. RPRI corresponding author Dr. Rawal shared that “After the implementation of the [quality improvement] initiative and training period, compliance tracking and monthly actionable scorecard reporting are powerful drivers for performance improvement. As with Copyright 2024 Radiology Partners | All Rights Reserved. References to Radiology Partners includes its managed physician-owned and operated radiology practices which are licensed to practice medicine. Radiology Partners, Inc. is not licensed to practice medicine and does not provide patient care.

info@radpartners.com

 radiology partners®

any successful change management program, constant and consistent feedback is vital to maintain performance.” The article calls attention to the extensive research and development that went into the reporting recommendations.

Read “Asymptomatic Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm: Standardizing Reporting Recommendations at a Large Multistate Radiology Practice” on the JACR website, and see the Radiology Business Journal’s piece highlighting the article.

Radiology Partners is a leading physician-led and physician-owned radiology practice in the U.S. Learn more about our mission, values and practice principles at RadPartners.com. For the latest news from RP, follow along our website and on Twitter, LinkedIn and Instagram. Interested in learning about career opportunities? Visit our careers page.